PRIVACY POLICY

McK Process & Safety is committed to protecting your privacy. We will only use the information that you provide us with to answer your questions and to respond to any comments you may make as a result of visiting our website.

We will only collect any personal information that is necessary to provide our services and we will not collect such information without your knowledge. We will not use this personal information for any purpose other than that for which it was originally collected, unless we first gain your consent to do so.

We will not sell, trade, rent or otherwise communicate any information that we hold about our clients or visitors to any third party for advertising or other purposes.

Should you wish to do so, in accordance with the Data Protection Act (DPA), you have the right to request a copy of any personal information that we hold about you and to correct any inaccuracies. As per the terms of the DPA we reserve the right to make a small charge for his service.

This Privacy Policy only applies to your use of the McK Process & Safety website. We are unable to accept liability for the use of your personal information by any of the other websites to which we have provided links.

Spyware

We do not utilise any form of “spyware” with the intention of monitoring or reporting on the web surfing habits of visitors to our website, either for advertising or any other purposes

Security

We undertake to safeguard any information we hold about our clients and visitors to our website. We will not disclose such information to any third party, other than to official bodies that may have legitimate legal justification and authority for demanding to see it.

Deletion of Information

At the authenticated request of anyone about whom we hold personal information, we will desist from using it for any purpose for which it has been collected and, if so requested, erase the information from our records.
